

Telematic Solution

Space has never been so close

Telematic Solutions is an Italian company, with head offices in Milan, which specialises in the implementation of maintenance projects and services in the space industry, in particular in the segment of land and telemetry.

The company is involved in various European space programmes, in the field of low current systems and safety, fluid networks, telemetry, and the maintenance of TT&C equipment at the Centre Spatial Guyanais (CSG), where the company has a presence through Telematic Solutions Guyane.

For fifteen years, the main players in the European space industry – the European Space Agency (ESA), Agenzia Spaziale Italiana (ASI), Centre National d'études Spatiales (CNES) – have placed their trust in Telematic Solutions. For them, the company carries out ambitious projects related to European space activities, such as the management and maintenance of the VEGA launch base and the provision of telemetry stations to monitor the return of the IXV (Intermediate Experimental Vehicle) into the earth's atmosphere.
